Hospitality Homes Accepts $50,000 Healthy Futures Solution Fund Grant from Sanofi

Grant will help expand access to non-hosted lodging for families traveling to Boston for critical medical care

Boston, MA, August 2026—Hospitality Homes has accepted a $50,000 grant from Sanofi, a global healthcare company, through its Healthy Futures Solution Fund to help ensure patients and their families have access to safe, affordable, and supportive lodging while receiving medical care in Boston.

For more than 40 years, Hospitality Homes has helped patients and caregivers from across the country and around the world overcome housing barriers and financial burdens associated with traveling for medical treatment. Through its network of volunteer hosts and private apartment lodging options, the organization provides families with a place to stay so they can remain together and focused on their loved one's health.

"Boston has always been known for innovation, education and outstanding medical expertise. Hospitality Homes provides a place to stay while receiving life-changing and often life-saving treatment. While we draw on a wide network of fantastic volunteer hosts, we also need to support families who have other medical requirements that necessitate a different living situation. We are particularly grateful for the ongoing support from Sanofi and their understanding of these critical needs in order to meet our shared goal to help as many families as we can," said Deborah Pepper, Executive Director, Hospitality Homes.

As the need for medical lodging continues to grow, so does the demand for accommodations that can meet the unique needs of patients and their families. Sanofi's Healthy Futures Solution Fund Grant will support Hospitality Homes' Non-Hosted Medical Lodging Program, which provides lodging for families who cannot be accommodated through traditional hosted housing. This includes patients requiring private, immune isolated, or specialized accessible accommodations, as well as families who may otherwise face significant financial barriers to securing lodging near their medical care.

"Sanofi knows that health doesn't start in a clinic. The Healthy Futures Solution Fund was created with the conviction that true health equity means addressing the structural barriers that shape people's daily lives, including stable housing. When those barriers go unaddressed, medical care can remain out of reach. We're proud to partner with Hospitality Homes so families seeking treatment in Boston can stay together and focus on what matters most: their loved one's health," said Meredith Tierney, Senior Director, U.S. Corporate Social Responsibility & Community Relations, Sanofi.

Hospitality Homes' mission is to eliminate housing barriers for families traveling to Boston for critical, lifesaving healthcare by providing free or low-cost supportive lodging regardless of background, nationality, race, ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, ability, age, diagnosis, or treatment facility.

The impact of this support is reflected in the experiences of the families Hospitality Homes serves. One recent guest shared: "We searched for the absolute best care for our son and needed to arrange a place to stay while we were out for testing, follow-ups, and surgeries. Some of these stays can be lengthy and expensive. Hospitality Homes took that stress of the financial strain off of our already full plate. It was one less thing to worry about when our lives were turned upside down. It may seem like a little thing, but it was HUGE for us. We can't thank HH enough. What an amazing organization!"

Sanofi's continued support reflects a shared commitment to improving equitable access to healthcare. Through this year's $50,000 grant, Hospitality Homes will strengthen its Non-Hosted Medical Lodging Program and help more families access the accommodations they need while receiving critical medical care in Boston.
